PREFACE

Historic events produce their masters not only in military and political strategy, but in science, industry, art, and poetry. In studying the past, as well as being conversant with the future, we find that the spirit of liberty is man's incentive to offer his abilities as well as his life to his country. Our Lineage Books are to record correctly the ancestry of the past, giving the lineal descent to the present generations and making it possible for future generations to know their great heritage.
